2d day of February, 1893,

At 10 o'clock a.m., to answer upon the complaint of George M. To the Sheriff or any Constable, directing him to deliver a copy of this summons to you, and to return hereto legal service and due return hereof.

The Cigar and Cigarette Trade.

According to the report of the commissioner of internal revenue, there were manufactured in New York in the calendar year ending Dec. 31, 1890, 1,184,898,347 cigars and 1,533,530,470 cigarettes.

Pennsylvania manufactured 100,000,000 more cigars than New York, but only about 4,500,000 cigarettes. The increase in the number of cigars manufactured in all the states during the same period was nearly 800,000,000.

During the fiscal year there was a decrease in the number of cigars imported of 18,679,037. There were in New York city thirty-four persons who qualified and kept books as tobacco manufacturers solely for the purpose of lawfully dealing in the refuse scraps, clippings, cuttings and waste made by cigar manufacturers. They sort, sieve and pack this material and export most of it to foreign countries. The rest they sell in bulk, under permits, to other manufacturers who manipulate and pack their product as smoking tobacco.

During the year 1891 they purchased 2,300,000 pounds of such material and exported and sold 1,150,131 pounds.—Washington Letter.

The Queen's Ostrich.

The illness of the queen's ostrich has led to the circulation of many reports, but it has not yet been said that no small credit to the bird's recovery is due to Jimmy, the native attendant who came with the ostrich from Sierra Leone.

Jimmy did not accompany the bird to London, but was preparing to leave Liverpool for his home in Africa when news was received from Mr. Bartlett, of the "Zoo," saying the ostrich was very ill. In less than two hours Jimmy was on his way to London, and whether the bird was rejoiced to see his old attendant or not can be imagined, but certain it is that its recovery seemed to date from the time of Jimmy's appearance.

In a characteristic letter Jimmy explains that the Zoo people seemed over careful of the ostrich, and to this he attributed its illness. Jimmy soon had its mouth opened, and its first repeat wakened bananas and six large sweet potatoes.—London News.

Fear of Cholera.

During the recent cholera scare when a few passengers from an infected ship were landed on Fire Island, the fish and oyster trade of the Great South bay was completely paralyzed. The city dealers declined to purchase the products of those waters for fear of infection. To-day, Brussels sprouts are being brought over by every steamer and sold in our markets from the districts in Germany the most severely scourged by cholera. This foreign importation comes to us with the soil upon which it was grown still clinging to the fruit of the plant.—New York Sun.

A Bad Speculation.

A Newton (Kan.) man recently made a bad speculation. His gun was stolen, the gun recovered, he agreed not to appear against the prisoner on his paying him fifteen dollars. He was prosecuted for compounding a felony, and his fine and costs amounted to $48.50.—Exchange.

New York at the Fair.

The four statues which will occupy niches in front of the New York state building at the World's fair are of Christopher Columbus, Hendrick Hudson, George Clinton, the first governor of this state, and Roswell P. Flower, the present executive.—Buffalo Express.

A Sadalia (Mo.) man killed fifty-six copperheads in his yard on his fiftieth birthday. He is a very superstitious man and thinks it is a sure sign that he has only six years to live.

Captain Illine, whose death has just been reported from Russia, commanded "the terrible battery" which made such havoc at Sevastopol among the British and French troops.
